ORATORS AT WORK

GLENDALE HIGH SCHOOL WILL MAKE STRONG EFFORT TO WIN LEAGUE DEBATE

Miss Mona Gardner, instructor at the Glendale high school, is developing student talent to participate in a league debate to be held next month, probably March 25. Paul Hutchinson, secretary of the debating organization of the local high school, is assisting Miss Gardner.

The local orators lost the first debate to the Hollywood school, but the students declare they are not disheartened and will make every effort to develop a strong team. Glendale entered the league late, and therefore missed the first debate. That sets the school at the foot of the league standing, Compton heading the list.

It is probable that a practice match may be arranged for the Glendale squad before the next league talk-fest.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

DUBUQUE, Iowa, Feb. 7.—Matt Daley, 65, prominent democratic politician, was murdered here today. The slayer attacked and perhaps fatally injured Mrs. Daley and a nurse who was caring for her. All the victims were beaten with an iron bar.

UNDER ADVISEMENT

CASES OF LOCAL MEN HEARD AND DECISION WILL BE GIVEN WITHIN WEEK

Hearing on charges of violating the state medical laws was given Dr. A. D. Cochran and Dr. Harry St. Clair, local chiropractors, before Judge Northrup of Alhambra on Saturday. After listening to the testimony, the court took the cases under advisement and announced that a decision would be given in about a week.

The charges were made at the instigation of the state board of health, it is said. Dr. Cochran and Dr. St. Clair were arrested recently on similar charges and, when brought before Judge Miller of this city, were, after presentation of testimony, released and the court made a statement to the effect that the state laws should be changed so that chiropractics might be engaged in without interference.

PLEADS FOR LAWS

SPEAKER GIVES FIGURES AND FACTS TO SHOW HARM IN SALE OF CIGARETTES

The anti-cigarette meeting in the First Methidist Episcopal church yesterday afternoon was not largely attended, but the speaker's words were deeply interesting to those present. He displayed no bitterness nor intolerance, pleading simply for law observance and investigation of the scope and effects of the cigarette evil. The statement that the United States' annual tobacco bill of over two billions of dollars was seven times the amount spent for education and more than thirty times the entire sum contributed by all the Christian churches for missions was a surprise to many, as was the further statement that the sum wasted on tobacco was six times the amount asked by Herbert Hoover for Near East relief.

Rev. Walton declared that the fight to bring home to the American people the truth of the cigarette's baneful effect on the boys and the girls of the land would be a long one, but that the aim was to impress it on the present generation, who will be the future lawmakers.

GOLD IS LEADING

DIVISION CONTINUES TO BE AHEAD IN CAMPAIGN FOR C. OF C. MEMBERS

Headed by C. D. Lusby and David Gregg, the Gold division in the Chamber of Commerce membership drive will, it is predicted by team workers, retain honors over the Blue division, directed by R. D. White and Owen Emery, when the campaign ends tomorrow.

The Gold division has signed 257 active members and fifty-six reserve members. The Blue division has secured 181 active members and thirty-seven reserve members. But, point out members of the Blues, the memberships taken by the banks of the city have been credited to the Golds. And the Golds come back with the answer that even with the banks' subscriptions not credited, the Golds would still hold the lead.

Having secured the memberships from the banks, the team led by C. C. Cooper has, so far, the best showing. But eliminating the banks, the teams led by V. M. Hollister and A. R. Eastman of the Blues and J. G. Huntley and Roy L. Kent of the Golds are battling for first honors.

The standing of the divisions and teams previous to the luncheon held at noon today was as follows:

HARDING'S CHOICE

PRESIDENT-ELECT PICKS OUT BIBLICAL TEXT FOR USE AT INAUGURATION

President-elect Warren G. Harding has chosen the Biblical text upon which he will take the oath of office as president of the United States. He will ask that the same Bible which George Washington used be opened at Micah sixth chapter and eighth verse which reads:

"He has showed me, O man, what is good; and what does the Lord require of thee, but to do justly and to love mercy and to walk humbly with my God."

Mr. Harding's thoughts have been much on the Bible of late. The president-elect has pledged his belief in the efficacy of prayer. He believes that prayer will help with the problems that are before him in the White House.

Mr. Harding thinks the affairs of this nation have been drifting for a long while, but he is approaching his task with confidence and faith. He believes faithfully that God will make him equal to the responsibility.

OFFICIAL HOME

BEAUTIFUL ESTATE IS GIVEN TO ENGLAND IN BEHALF OF PREMIERS OF COUNTRY

Britain's prime ministers have at last an official place of residence, Premier Lloyd George being the first occupant of the beautiful estate, known as the Chequers, in Buckinghamshire, which was presented to the nation by Lord Lee of Fareham "as a thanksgiving for her deliverance in the great war" and as "A place of rest and recreation for her prime ministers forever."

It is generally assumed that No. 10 Downing street, London, is the official residence of the premier, but this is not so, as the office of prime minister is not recognized by the constitution. "No. 10" is the official residence of the first lord of the treasury, just as No. 11 Downing street is the residence of the chancellor of the exchequer. Usually the premier takes the office of first lord of the treasury, but he cannot occupy 10 Downing street unless he does—or except by the grace of the proper occupant.

Provision Made for Upkeep.

The Chequers, which is within handy reach of London, however, is specifically designed for the prime minister, whatever office he may hold. Premiers like the late Marquis of Salisbury, the Earl of Rosebery, the late Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, and Arthur Balfour had huge estates, but Premier Lloyd George is a comparatively poor man, as was ex-Premier Asquith.

Lord Lee was convinced that at no very distant date England may get a labor premier, who in ordinary circumstances will certainly not be able to keep up proper state. On January 8 Lord Lee invited the premier and a select party down to the Chequers and after dinner, he and Lady Lee quietly drove away, saying: "It is yours from now onwards."

Ample funds have been invested to ensure the proper upkeep of this fine estate.

THANKS EXPRESSED

LETTER OF APPRECIATION IS RECEIVED FROM EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE, C. OF C.

During the luncheon held last Friday by the workers in the Chamber of Commerce membership drive, Chairman Jesse E. Smith announced that a team captain had reported to him that one of the "prospects" in the drive had been listed for four memberships by the committee having charge of that duty.

"But when the workers went to this 'prospect' and told him of the quota given him," said Chairman Smith, "he said that it was not enough and he voluntarily raised it to six memberships. I believe that to be the only case of its kind in the campaign. We have had some who sought to cut the quota; only one, so far as I know, who asked that it be increased. I am willing to entertain a motion that this citizen, A. T. Cowan, of The Evening News, be thanked.

Thereupon Roy L. Kent arose and stated that he wished to confirm the statement made by Chairman Smith.

"I was on the team that called on that citizen," said Mr. Kent, "and all that Chairman Smith has said is correct. Therefore, I make a motion that the chairman of the executive committee be authorized to send a letter of appreciation to A. T. Cowan, of The Glendale Evening News, for voluntarily raising his quota."

The motion prevailed unanimously and the publisher of The Evening News is in receipt of the following letter:

"Glendale, Cal., Feb. 5, 1921.

"Mr. A. T. Cowan,

"The Glendale Evening News,

"Glendale, Calif.

"Dear Mr. Cowan:—The Campaign committee has instructed me to especially recognize your subscription to the Chamber of Commerce. Your quota was four memberships, or $100, and you have subscribed six memberships, or $150, and I understand you voluntarily raised your own quota.

"Please accept this letter of appreciation from the committee, as we heartily commend you for your action.

"We hope that your splendid example will assist in enrolling those who have not signed for their full quota.

"Yours for a Greater Glendale,

"GLENDALE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE,

"By JESSE E. SMITH,

"Chairman Executive Committee.'

Shortly after Chairman Smith made the announcement at the luncheon, Dr. Henry Harrower, one of the active workers in the campaign, arose and announced that he desired to have his quota increased to six, amid hearty applause from the crowd present.

The workers are out today seeking more memberships for the organization, in order that the campaign may be brought to a close at noon tomorrow with the city reaching the mark set at the beginning of the drive.

SPRING'S FASHIONS

LATEST STYLES BEING SHOWN IN NEW YORK SHOPS; LESS VARIATION NOTICED

NEW YORK—Spring blouses show less variation from the past season's offerings than any other branch of the feminine garment world.

The main difference is in coloring and material, which is only the natural change from winter to summer wear. Colors are very gay. Practically all the manufacturers are turning out vast quantities of porcelain blue, tangerine, honeydew and rattan models.

Materials are swerving from the heavy satins, brocades and taffetas of midwinter to the georgettes, nets and laces of early spring. Georgette combined with silk or tricot is much in evidence. The leading color combination is gray georgette, with coral or rose silk. Gray is the winning color in hats, shoes, hose and wrap trimmings, and it is for this reason that blouses favor it in dress models.

One house is showing a model of tie-back gray georgette with black and front panel of coral metallic silk. These panels are covered with an all-over pattern of black floss stitching. The sleeves are three-quarter length and have the loose, flowing peasant cuff.

The peasant influence, by the way, is strongly developed in spring blouses. The Rumanian cut and coloring is especially emphasized. Peasant smocks made of linen, pongee, crash or muslin in natural color and embroidered with blues and reds are a big seller for southern resort wear right now.

The cross-stitch is used for embroidering cotton blouses and the pattern is generally applied about the peplum, collarless neck, and down the front, where a large square or round design is placed.

The peasant cut is effected by the loose sleeves, loose armholes, and peplum belted at the waist. The old time flowing Russian overblouse is almost entirely supplanted by this belted effect. Either a belt of self material is used or a kid belt in contrasting color. These narrow kid belts of white, tan, scarlet or brown are lavishly used on all blouses and are a big feature of dress georgette blouses as well as the peasant cotton smocks.

Basque blouses are not returning to any extent in the spring lines. But the high choker collar which was a part of the basque is retained in many lingerie and silk models. It is quite the vogue to have a very high collar and very short sleeves, a la the grand opera gowns of this season.

Hard to Get Work Done

Lingerie blouses are not very conspicuous, mainly because of the impossibility of getting this handwork done. However, a few very select shops are displaying their priceless handmade linens, voiles and organdies. They are embossed with more cutwork, scalloping and solid embroidery than was considered good taste a few years ago, but the fortunate women who can afford them affect to find them very beautiful. Narrow colored ribbon sashes or girdles are run through hand-wrought eyelets and tie at the side.

Loose cotton sports blouses in a variety of gay colors, such as jade, emerald, topaz, canary, porcelain blue, rose, scarlet, are shown to be worn with the sleeveless ribbon or wool jackets. Tams to match the jackets are upon the market.

BUYING AT HOME

S. A. TROWBRIDGE SAYS THAT LOCAL PEOPLE WILL TRADE HERE IF PRICE RIGHT

S. A. Trowbridge, 437 Burchett, declares, in a communication to The Evening News, that he is glad to know a Chamber of Commerce is being reorganized in Glendale for, he says, it is through such an organization a city can be built up.

"There are many improvements needed in Glendale, such as have been proposed by the Chamber of Commerce's program committee," declares Mr. Trowbridge. "Of course Glendale's business men want local trade. And. I feel sure the Glendale people want to patronize the home merchants. Therefore, it appears to me that if the merchants will see to it that their prices cannot be beaten by Los Angeles merchants, Glendale people will gladly buy at home. Of course, when a person can pay carfare to and from Los Angeles and then save money on an article, it stands to reason the purchase will probably be made there. But, I am sure, if Glendale people can get things here at comparative prices, they would rather buy at home. Perhaps the new Chamber of Commerce may give some study to this question."

Some who have compared prices advertised by Glendale merchants declare that, in many instances, they are lower than those appearing in Los Angeles papers and, consequently, a saving can be made by buying at home, to say nothing of keeping money in local circulation.

Chop Out Extravagance from State Government!

It was done in Illinois! It should be done in California!

Will Governor Stephens lop off scores of useless high-salaried departments from the state's payroll, and consolidate essential ones?

The King excess tax bill now pending in the State Legislature proposes to arbitrarily boost the state's 1921-1922 tax budget from $47,000,000 to $81,000,000.

* * *

Even allowing $18,000,000 of this vast sum for school purposes, the proposed budget would still be $63,000,000, or a round $16,000,000 more than last year's budget!

Governor Stephens and his friends in the California Legislature are fighting to have the legislature pass this unjust and iniquitous measure when the legislature resumes sessions, February 24.

Will California's taxpayers, already grossly overburdened by taxes, stand for this tremendous boost in the state's budget to continue the administration's era of extravagance?

The King bill is ostensibly designed to tax the public utility corporations of the state. But when it is realized that the corporations merely pay taxes in a lump sum to the state and then collect them again from the public in turn, through added cost for service, the people—all the people—should demand the chopping off of wasteful expenditures of the people's money!

* * *

Governor Johnson's tax budget in 1915, for two years, was $36,000,000
Governor Stephens' tax budget for 1919, for two years, was $47,000,000

And now Governor Stephens and his high-salaried departments demand a total of $81,000,000 for state expenses in the next two years!

Will You Stand for It?

Or, will YOU write, 'phone or telegraph Governor Stephens and the legislators from YOUR district that YOU WILL NOT STAND FOR IT?

Demand Strict Economy, not Extravagance, in State Affairs!

It was done in Illinois where 125 useless departments were eliminated, saving many millions of dollars.

It can be done in California, if YOU DEMAND IT!

SETTLE DISPUTES

CONCILATION PLAN PROPOSED IN REPORT SUBMITTED BY IMMIGRATION BOARD

Legislation which would bring conciliation within the reach of everyone, enabling all to settle disputes without resort to the courts, is suggested in the annual report of the commission of immigration and housing, made public at Sacramento.

The commission points out that a jury trial in the superior court costs the taxpayers about $200 a day. In addition both parties in the action have attorneys to employ and expenses to meet. "Such legislation has been in effect in other countries for some time, with the result that the work of the courts and consequently the need of court buildings, judges, juries and other court officials has been tremendously decreased," reads the report.

The suggestion of the commission is based on the operation of the complaint department of the commission of immigration and housing. Approximately 5000 cases a year are handled by this department which maintains offices in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Fresno, Bakersfield and Stockton.

Hear All Sorts of Troubles

Every immigrant is invited to lay his troubles before the department. Complaints range from lost baggage and blackmail to overcharges and abuse of authority by officials. Wage claims lead in the table of complaints with 548 cases. Among the complaints are neglect of aged parents, battery, cruelty to children, embezzlement, malicious prosecution, obtaining money by false pretenses, seduction, ejections, fraud by attorneys, land frauds, industrial accidents, complaints against landlords, divorce, and wage claims. These cases were adjusted by the department. Court action was avoided. Forty-four nationalities laid their troubles before the department.

In order to make the services of the department available to a greater number of immigrants, the commission declares that another office should be opened in San Francisco, one in Oakland, San Diego, San Jose and Eureka.

The commission claims that this department of complaints saves the state hundreds of thousands of dollars annually in cutting the amount of work in the courts.

In several cases, the commission was able to avoid strikes and labor troubles.

Takes Credit for Inquiry

"One of the most marked single achievements of the complaint department of the commission is to be found in the present investigation and revelation of the miscarriage of justice which had prevailed in the police courts of San Srancisco," says the report. "This investigation was directly precipitated by the activities of the commission's representatives in connection with various cases of the exploitation of immigrants which arose in connection with the courts."

The commission raps present court practices. "Until we have taken steps to remove the procedural delays, crooked practices and disregard for law which have grown up around some of our courts, we cannot expect to merit the respect of our people or of the immigrants," declares the commission. "The commission believes in the extension of legal aid societies of the type which it has helped to develop in San Francisco." It also urges the creation of the office of public defender in the larger counties.

Revision of Certain Laws

The commission urges intelligent revision of the laws relating to the selection and service of juries, and the preservation of the right of jury trial.

In the year the four inspectors of the labor camp department inspected 2022 camps, housing 73,458 persons. In most cases employers were willing to make improvements suggested by the inspectors, so that it was necessary to bring but few court actions. The report points out that in every case in which the labor camp inspectors have gone into court they have secured a conviction.

California has the largest number of out door camps of any state in the union, according to the report. Since 1914, the commission has noticed a steady improvement in labor camps.

The immigration and housing commission is composed of Simon J. Lubin, Sacramento; Most Rev. E. J. Hanna, San Francisco; Mrs. Frank Gibson, Los Angeles; J. H. McBride, M. D., Pasadena, and Paul Scharrenberg, San Francisco.

REALTY SHAKEUP

PROPOSED LAW FOR STATE WOULD SPLIT UP GREAT HOLDINGS OF LAND

SACRAMENTO—If the bill presented by Senator Claude Purkitt to limit land holdings, becomes a law, California is going to have the biggest real estate shakeup in its history. Legislatures consider the bill the most radical of the hundreds presented.

"They call me a Bolshevik, now," says Purkitt.

The measure would limit holdings of tillable lands to 1000 acres and of grazing lands to 2000 acres. One of the objects of the bill is to break up large land holdings.

Some inkling of the shakeup the measure would cause can be gained by a story of the report on large land-holdings prepared by the commission of immigration and housing in 1919. The report covers the counties of Santa Barbara, Ventura, Los Angeles, Orange, San Diego, Riverside, San Bernardino and Imperial.

Large Acreage Is Held

The report does not discuss large land holdings in Kern and other counties.

In these eight counties the Southern Pacific holds 2,598,775 acres of land, according to the report. Excluding this railroad property, 274 holdings in excess of 2000 acres total 2,295,140.

The commission's report shows that 65.7 per cent of the total area of Santa Barbara county is held in parcels of more than 2000 acres. Corresponding percentage figures for other counties are:

Ventura	40.4
Orange	53.6
San Diego	43.1
Riverside	53
San Bernardino	48.3

"It may thus be said that title to one-half of the non-railroad and non-public rural land of the eight counties is vested in not more than 250 landholders," concludes the commission.

Among the estates in these eight counties which Purkitt's bill would split up, the commission lists the following:

Jerome O'Neil, Inc. (Jas. Flood)	183,339
Jas. Irvine	101,000
Empire Land & Cattle Co.	86,075
Newhall Land & Cattle Co.	67,180
Wm. G. Henshaw	60,309

Commission Lists Estates

The commission lists thirty-two estates of more than 15,000 acres in the eight counties.

The commission sees a menace to the state in these large land holdings. Discussing the estate of the Rindge family, comprising 16,294 acres in Los Angeles county, the commission says:

"Another extensive holding . . . . represents an American succession to a Spanish-Mexican ownership and the establishment of a manorial estate. This instance is, however, extreme; it is the instance of a little principality, defiant of law and of public sentiment, determined to live its independent life regardless of the demands and the interests of a society with which it is in perpetual discord. Its conflict with the outside world is an ever-recurring issue in the courts. It holds to its land, of which it makes small use, merely through an obstinate pride of possession."

Much of the Southern Pacific land is desert according to the report, and large sections of the other extensive holdings are suitable only for stock. Tillable land, however, is often poorly farmed by the large holder, the probers found.

POTATO'S HISTORY

SOME INTERESTING FACTS ON ENTRANCE OF SPUD IN U. S. ARE FOUND BY EXPERTS

The tercentenary of the planting of the first potato in the United States will be next December, according to Dr. Berthold Laufer, curator of anthropology of the Field Museum at Chicago.

"The potato entered this country," Dr. Laufer said, in an address before the American Association for the Advancement of Science, "not, as surmised by De Candolle, through an alleged band of Spanish adventurers, but in a perfectly respectable manner from Bermuda, where it had been introduced some years previously from England.

"It is a prank of fortune that the potato, originally a denizen of Chile and Peru, appears as a naturalized Englishman in the United States. The potato had arrived in England about 1586 or a little later.

Correction Is Made

"For a long time the belief was entertained by botanists that the openauk, described among the wild roots of Virginia by Thomas Hariot in 1588, was to represent our potato. This speculation is erroneous. Data from the history of the Bermudas now make it perfectly clear that the potato was one of the plants which at that time and until then (that is, 1621) Virginia had not.

"The History of the Bermudas reports that in 1613 the good ship Elizabeth brought potatoes from England to Bermuda. The history further states that on the 2d of December, 1621, Captain Nathaniel Butler, governor of the Bermudas, sent from 'St. Georges, in the Sommer Islands,' to the governor of Virginia (Francis Wyatt) two large cedar chests 'wherein were fitted all such kinds and sortes of the country plants and fruits, as Virginia at that time and until then, had not, as figs, pomegranates, oranges, lemons, plantanes, sugar canes, potatoe, and cassada rootes, papes (papaya), red pepper, the pritle peare (prickly pear), and the like.'

"In the following year, a Virginian bark took from the Bermudas 'twenty thousand weight of potatoes at the least.' The fact that potaties were actually planted in Virginia at the very moment of the first introduction is confirmed in letters from Virginia in 1621 and published by Purchas.

For several centuries an infusion of nutgalls with sulphate of iron composed the only known writing fluid."

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

REPORT IS MADE BY AGENT OF FEDERAL RESERVE IN PACIFIC COAST SECTION

"Final estimates of the yields of the principal crops in this district," declares the monthly report of John Perrin, federal reserve agent to the federal reserve board, "indicate that production during 1920 was approximately the equivalent of the record yields of 1919, although a slightly smaller acreage was harvested in 1920 than in 1919. The production per acre during 1920 averaged larger than it did in 1919."

The outlook for 1921 is also pictured as favorable.

"Weather conditions throughout the district during the past month have been generally favorable to the growth of fall-sown grain, and the copious rains in all parts of the district, save southern California and Arizona, where average rains have fallen, have both aided the growth of crops and filled reservoirs, thus indicating that water supplies for next season will be adequate," the report states.

Increased Fruit Yields

"As a result larger and better crops of winter sown grains and increased yields of fruits are in prospect for 1921.

"In the mountains heavy, well-packed snowfalls are expected to prevent a recurrence during 1921 of the shortage of hydro-electric power which occurred in the late summer of 1920. The mild and open winter in the Pacific northwest has continued to favor livestock men, and where, as in sections of the inter-mountain region, feeding has become necessary. Hay is cheap and abundant."

Wage reductions have started in the twelfth federal district, which includes the entire Pacific coast and the intermountain states.

"Reductions in wages," says the report, "which in this district have lagged behind similar reductions in the east, occurred during December, when cuts varying from 10 to 20 per cent were made in different sections.

"December building operations were fewer in number, but greater by 5.8 per cent in value than they were in November."

Report on Unemployment

"Outside of California unemployment continues to be in excess of what is normal for this time of the year," declared the review.

"In Portland 11,000 men are unemployed, compared with a normal of 5000; in Spokane 2500, compared with a normal of 1500, and in Nevada the excess of unemployment among the miners as compared with last year's figures is 3000.

"In such centers as Salt Lake City and Spokane, immediately adjacent to the agricultural communities, the resumptiin of outdoor work in the spring is expected to absorb all the present surplus of labor.

"In different localities during December reductions varying from 10 per cent to 20 per cent were made in wages. There has been part time in some plants and reduction in the personnel employed by others."

BUILDING INQUIRY

ALLEGED ILLEGAL COMBINES IN CONSTRUCTION WORK ARE GIVEN SCORING

Resolutions urging investigation of all alleged illegal combinations in the building industry and punishment for the guilty parties were adopted at the closing session in Washington of the housing conference called by the national council of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The conference, attended by civic and industrial leaders from all parts of the country, pledged its full support to "those who are bringing the facts to light."

Holding the present housing shortage to constitute a "grave menace to the moral well-being of the American people" the conference urged manufacturers of building materials, contractors and retailers and distributors to "exert their utmost efforts to the end that conditions are brought about which will result in immediate reductions in costs of construction."

Workers engaged not only in the building industry itself, but also in the manufacture of all materials entering into construction, were urged to "do their full share," to the end that "labor costs, which constitute so large a proportion of the total cost of raw materials and of building, may be reduced to a point where it will be possible to proceed with construction."

SHOULD SHE KISS BRIDEGROOM?

GREENWICH, Conn.—And did the justice of the peace kiss the bridegroom? No, she didn't, for when the ceremony ended the bridegroom, who, by the by, happened to be a southerner, clasped the hand of the first woman justice of the peace of this city and kissed it with grace and enthusiasm. And so the first marriage ceremony performed by Greenwich's first woman justice ended.

When Alice J. O'Neil was elected justice of the peace here the village wags speculated on what would happen at the conclusion of the first ceremony. Past and present Greenwich justices have kissed the brides. Everybody wondered if Miss O'Neill would kiss the bridegroom.

Late the other evening a limousine car rolled into town hunting for a minister. None could be found, so Miss Sallie George of Goggin Hill, Va., suggested to W. Ogden of Brookland, Md., that they look for a justice. Miss O'Neill was summoned and she married them in the office of Justice George G. McNall.

"I was wondering which one I should kiss when Mr. Ogden settled the question for me by kissing my hand," said Miss O'Neil.
